Leather, cotton, metallic thread, sequins

Description

The brown leather men's shoes are formed from a single piece of leather, molded and joined at toe. The colors of the tightly knitted uppers vary from foot to foot. The proper right is dark green, yellow, black; the proper left is a brick and orange. On each are patterns in gold and silver threads. A center band is of black, brown, green and dark green has at its center, evenly spaced sequins. A blue heart lies in the yellow field. A finely knitted band encircles the opening and from it extends cotton ties.
